The Romance of Leonardo da Vinci (Modern Library, 138.1) Dmitri Merejkowski

At the turn of the 20th century, a brilliant Russian writer, Dmitry Sergeyeovich Merezhkovsky, wrote this novel, "The Romance of Leonardo Da Vinci", a profound meditation on art and religion. Merezhkovsky portrays Leonardo as a man of many facets, some of which may be grouped as pagan, some of which are Christian. Leonardo was filled with conflict and doubts. This book is filled with historical and semi-historical information. It is a historical novel. This book provided much of the inspiration for the current book and movie "The Da Vinci Code" by Dan Brown. Like The Da Vinci Code, The Romance of Leonardo Da Vinci finds clues hidden in various places, including in painted over areas of The Last Supper

David Baker:

As a scholar exactly feel bored to be able to reading. If their teacher expected them to go to the library or make summary for some guide, they are complained. Just small students that has reading's heart and soul or real their hobby. They just do what the educator want, like asked to go to the library. They go to at this time there but nothing reading seriously. Any students feel that studying is not important, boring along with can't see colorful images on there. Yeah, it is for being complicated. Book is very important in your case. As we know that on this period of time, many ways to get whatever we would like. Likewise word says, many ways to reach Chinese's country. Therefore this The Romance of Leonardo da Vinci (Modern Library, 138.1) can make you experience more interested to read.
